

How Your Chemist Supplies Corrective Treatment Chemicals

Within the cost of the program, your chemist supplies corrective treatment chemicals as pure, undiluted active ingredients, packaged and labeled by their real, scientific names.

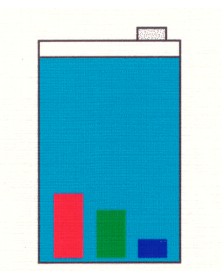

When the inventory gets low, you tell your chemist what you need.

He supplies treatment chemicals at no additional cost.

view of client's supply of bottled treatment chemicals in stockroom

The Usual Alternative - weak commercial mixtures

Expensive trade-name products contain disappointingly small amounts of active ingredients dissolved in a lot of water.

Founding Member